A Tribunal is a Subordinate court established under Section (1) of the Legal Education Act No.27 of 2012 [Rev.2015] Law of Kenya.

What does a Tribunal(s) do and what does the Legal Education Appeals Tribunal do?

- The Legal Education Appeals Tribunal has the authority to hear appeals from any individual or institution aggrieved by decisions made by the Council of Legal Education, its committees, or officers, as well as any matter arising under the Legal Education Act.
- This includes cases where the Council refuses to grant a license to operate as a legal education provider, imposes conditions on a license that may be deemed unfair or unreasonable, or suspends or revokes an existing license.
- The Tribunal ensures that such decisions are reviewed thoroughly and fairly, providing a platform for those affected to seek redress and ensuring that the principles of justice, accountability, and transparency are upheld in the regulation of legal education in Kenya. By offering an independent forum for resolving disputes, the Tribunal safeguards the rights and interests of legal education stakeholders while maintaining the integrity of the legal education system.
- -Any other disputes acceptable by the Tribunal.

Who may institute a claim?

- The Tribunal serves individuals and institutions directly affected by the decisions of the Council of Legal Education. Its clients include law students who may have grievances regarding admission or licensing decisions, the Kenya School of Law in cases involving institutional matters or compliance issues, and the Council of Legal Education itself when seeking clarity or resolution of disputes. The Tribunal ensures that all these parties have access to justice and fair consideration in matters related to legal education.

How do I institute a claim at the Legal Education Appeals Tribunal?

· All claims filed in the Tribunal should be by way of statement of claim. The claim form is available on the Judiciary website ie, www.judiciary.go.ke The Claimant may at the time of filing attach any supporting documents and statements at the time of filling .

If I am not conversant with Judiciary's E-filing, how do I go about the filing process?

· If you encounter any difficulties while filing your claim on the portal, you are encouraged to visit the nearest court station for assistance. Alternatively, you may contact us via telephone or email, as provided at the end of this FAQ.

Do I need legal representation (A lawyer) to prosecute my Claim at the Legal Education Appeals Tribunal?

· A Claimant, Applicant, Complainant, or Appellant has the option to file their claim either in person or through a duly authorized representative. The representative may be an advocate or another individual appointed to act on behalf of the party, in accordance with the applicable legal provisions.

Do I need to serve the Respondent with a copy of the filed statement of claim?

· A Claimant, Applicant, Complainant, or Appellant has the option to file their claim either in person or through a duly authorized representative. The representative may be an advocate or another individual appointed to act on behalf of the party, in accordance with the applicable legal provisions.

What does the Respondent do after receipt of the Statement of Claim?

· Yes, you are required to serve the respondent with a copy of the filed statement of claim. This ensures that the respondent is properly notified of the proceedings and has an opportunity to respond to the claim. Service should be done in accordance with the relevant procedural rules governing the Tribunal.

What happens where the Respondent upon being served fails to respond to the Statement of Claim/Complaint/Appeal?

· Where the respondent fails to respond to the claim within the prescribed period, and the Tribunal is satisfied that the respondent has been duly served, the Tribunal may, either on its own motion or upon the application of the claimant, enter judgment in favor of the claimant. In such a case, the Tribunal may also order the relief sought in the statement of claim, provided that the claimant has met all necessary procedural requirements.

How long does my matter take to be heard at the Legal Education Appeals Tribunal?

· As per the established guidelines, all matters should be heard and determined within 60 days from the filing of the claim. In most instances, these matters are resolved well before the maximum period of 60 days. Adjournments are strongly discouraged and will be granted only under exceptional and unforeseen circumstances. In any case, a maximum of three adjournments will be allowed.

Can I file a claim or a matter at the Legal Education Appeals Tribunal if I reside outside the set local limits of the Tribunal?

· The Tribunal receives matters from all regions across the country, provided that it has the appropriate jurisdiction to hear and determine the case. As long as the matter falls within the Tribunal's jurisdiction, it is eligible for consideration, regardless of its geographical origin within the country.

Can I file a matter at the Legal Education Appeals Tribunal if similar proceedings are pending before another Court?

· No. However, a party may apply to withdraw a matter from the Legal Education Appeals Tribunal and have it filed at another appropriate court or tribunal, or the matter may be transferred by a higher court to the Legal Education Appeals Tribunal.

How soon after hearing can I get Judgement on my matter?

· Where there is consent/agreement, it is drawn and parties sign immediately. Where there is Judgement to be delivered, it takes the tribunal at most two weeks.

Is there provision for Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) mechanisms in the Legal Education Appeals Tribunal?

· Where there is consent or an agreement between the parties, the agreement is promptly drafted and presented for the parties to sign immediately. This ensures that both parties are in full agreement and that the matter is resolved without delay. In cases where judgment is to be delivered, the Tribunal strives to provide a timely decision, typically within a maximum of two weeks.

· This period allows for careful consideration of the case and ensures that all relevant factors are taken into account before rendering a fair and just judgment.

What redress does a party aggrieved by the decision of the Tribunal have?

- A person who is aggrieved by the decision or order of the Tribunal has the right to appeal that decision or order to the High Court, Civil Division. The appeal must be lodged in accordance with the relevant legal procedures and within the prescribed time limits.

Once the appeal is heard, the decision of the High Court shall be final and binding.

- This ensures that parties have an opportunity to challenge the Tribunal's decision, while maintaining the integrity and finality of the judicial process.
- The appeal process is designed to provide a mechanism for review while ensuring that justice is served in accordance with the law.

What is the official language of the court?

- The official languages of the court are English, Kiswahili, or any other language deemed appropriate based on the circumstances of the case. In line with its commitment to ensuring enhanced access to justice for all, the Tribunal strives to accommodate the diverse linguistic needs of the parties involved. This includes facilitating the use of indigenous languages, Braille, and other forms of communication that are accessible to persons with disabilities.

- The Tribunal aims to remove any language or communication barriers, ensuring that every individual, regardless of their linguistic background or physical ability, can fully participate in the proceedings and have access to a fair and equitable judicial process.
